The ST3 is the only Ducati that uses the three valve heads. It's water cooled; an advantage as far as I'm concerned. Steve and I have done the valve adjustments ourselves - it's not the dark magic some would have you believe. Valve clearance check intervals were increased on the later models, and I think that the 6K is overly conservative.

Maintenance

The enjoyment of riding, reliability and maximum containment of maintenance costs are among the main criteria that drive every engineering project in Ducati. We have spread out services to intervals of 24,000 km (15,000 miles) and on some models the main Desmo Service is not necessary until 30,000 km (18,000 miles).
